may not have to trouble you very much, because I am going to order the disclosure of documents, I believe. I have only asked for it to be listed because it did not seem I should deal with it administratively and also so that I could explain what I do have on the court file. I have been through it myself and the court staff have been through it.

I have received a letter – I am dealing with this in chambers because it involves Mr Kirk's mental and physical health and has nothing to do with the public, there is no substantive criminal proceedings, there has been some contact with the office and I have been shown a letter from a consultant anaesthetist in which he makes the reasonable point as follows: "I am not able to undertake his anaesthetic care because of the conflicting medical information that I have received. On the basis of imaging reports available to me, Mr Kirk has bilateral multiple small cerebral ischemic foci. There was no evidence of any space-occupying lesion. I believe the CT scan of the head was performed in December 2009. However, I received conflicting information from Mr Kirk who has "heard" from the Crown Prosecution Service. This information includes words such as tumour and cancer in the brain."

I interrupt my reading to indicate straightaway that there is absolutely nothing about any cancer or tumour in the brain in any reports which the court holds. I have seen no such material.

"As I have not had all the medical information available to me, I am unable to make a judgment and take on Mr Kirk's anaesthetic care. Leave this matter with Mr Kirk to either can do, there is no other proceedings before me, but they do not include any reference to such things. There is a quotation from a report prepared by, I had better get the terminology right, a neuropsychologist, which is included in one of Tegwyn Williams' reports, but no copy of the neuropsychologist's report itself appears on the court file and there were clearly radiological investigations undertaken, but those reports are not on the court file and I was not the trial judge, I did not deal with the fitness to plead. Had I been dealing with the fitness to plead, I might well have asked for such reports, but there is no evidence that anybody did and the matter was resolved in Mr Kirk's favour and therefore nothing arises, so any pursuit of those reports would have to be through separate proceedings, but I do not think I have the power to do anything else and Mr Kirk is clearly entitled to what I have got, and that is why, subject to

THE RECORDER OF CARDIFF: I have not seen that, Mr Kirk.

MR KIRK: No, you have not seen the neuropsychologist's report, who has rewritten the

MR KIRK: You are trying to wash this under the carpet. We knew you would do this. I have come with the documents ...

THE RECORDER OF CARDIFF: I am not, Mr Kirk, I have only been asked to disclose documents to assist your anaesthetist and I have indicated everything we have got will be disclosed and I have made the bundle up.

MR KIRK: I am giving you what he has not got.

THE RECORDER OF CARDIFF: Well, if you have got it, you do not need it from me.

MR KIRK: I want you to confirm, because the transcript has been doctored. The official Cardiff transcript has been doctored. They waited until Tegwyn Williams stopped talking and then they switched it on. But this Mr Tumbledown, CPS Tumbledown, he says that Mr Tegwyn Williams believes I have cancer and then the judge says, "But we do not have two

MR KIRK: I wish you to see the contents of this report and adjourn and come back after you have studied this document. В THE RECORDER OF CARDIFF: These proceedings are concluded, thank you very much. I have ordered the disclosure of the documents to assist the anaesthetist. The rest of this ... MR KIRK: I have done it under Data Protection Act, I have done it under Freedom of C Information Act, I have done it three times now. THE RECORDER OF CARDIFF: The rest of this is an abuse, Mr Kirk. MR KIRK: It is an abuse application that I am making today. THE RECORDER OF CARDIFF: Mr Kirk, there is no abuse application, there are no D proceedings against you. MR KIRK: It is right here. THE RECORDER OF CARDIFF: Arrest him. For the purpose of the record, Mr Kirk then E threw a file at me and he missed. Arrest him, put him in the cells please. Thank you very much. I will put the matter before the High Court judge later today. Thank you. Take him down please, clear the court. Take him straight down please. (11.09 am) F G
