Latest News: - Maurice Kirk rang me at 3.15pm today (2 August 2009) from the Hospital Wing of Cardiff Prison, as he was transferred there on 29 July 2009. Maurice told me that he was assessed by Psychiatrist, Dr Gaynor Jones for two hours on Friday 31 July 2009. "It was a gruelling session, mentally and physically" he said. Maurice also relayed that he is in a lot of pain and finding it difficult to walk now. Maurice would NOT be persuaded to abandon his hunger strike, as he is determined to expose the HM Partnerships, Royal Charters: royally-authorised "non-recital" (concealment) and "mis-recital" (deception) and the unlawful, MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN THE POLICE AND THE LAW SOCIETY: -

BBC NEWS: A brief history of habeas corpus – 9 March 2005: -

"Boris Johnson MP said earlier in the week that Tony Blair is the first peacetime prime minister to curtail the right to habeas corpus." – Comment: Tony Blair brought in over 3,000 oppressive laws and curtailed good laws in order to cover his own back, as he is commonly known as a WAR CRIMINAL and should have been brought to justice at the same time as Saddam Hussein.

"In reality it is no longer of great practical significance as there are today very few habeas corpus applications, but it still represents the fundamental principle that unlawful detention can be challenged by immediate access to a judge - even by telephone in the middle of the night." - Comment: Unfortunately not if your name is Maurice Kirk.

"The Home Office denies its plans amount to habeas corpus suspension. A spokesman said: "We are not removing habeas corpus rights. Everyone has a right to habeas corpus and that will remain the case." - Comment: Therefore, the British Police State have violated Maurice

Kirk's inalienable common law rights, here again, as they failed to bring him before a Court of Law. This endemic violation of Peoples' rights in the UK will continue unabated until Tony Blair and his Cronies are brought to justice - for the common good.

News update: Maurice Kirk rang me at 8.15am on 28 July 2009 and advised me that he was told by a Prison Officer at 4.30pm on 27 July 2009, that he was being taken to court on 28 July 2009. The Prison Officer refused to tell Mr Kirk the court that he was being taken to or the reason. Therefore, I rang Cardiff Prison on: 02920 923100 to enquire. I was advised by the prison that Maurice Kirk was being taken to Cardiff County Court, but he would not divulge what for. I now know that it was for the exchange of witness statements, which was adjourned yet again, at taxpayers' expense, as the Court and the Prison knew Maurice Kirk did NOT have his files. You could not make it up:

On 23 July 2009, Dafydd Morgan of Stand Your Ground and myself were in Cardiff County Court, as requested by Maurice Kirk to exchange witness statements with the Chief Constable of the South Wales Constabulary. Mr Kirk's case was listed for 10.30am, but when Mr Morgan, and I, got to Courtroom 1 at 10.15am Mr Kirk's case had already been adjourned to another date. Why did judge A J Seys Llewellyn QC adjourn Mr Kirk's case before 10.30am, when Mr Kirk had told Prison Officers that, I and Dafydd Morgan were going to be there to represent him? Mr Kirk is also claiming human rights violations under Article 6 (3c) of the European Convention of Human Rights: "to defend himself in person or through legal assistance of his own choosing" - Mr Kirk had chosen Patrick Cullinane and Dafydd Morgan to defend him on 23 July 2009.

Please peruse the following and assess the immediate danger Maurice Kirk is in for perusing justice in the UK: -

The Observer: By David Rose Sunday 26 August 2007

'I've given you the chance to help, but you haven't. Now someone is going to have to die'

Media coverage of FTAC to date has portrayed it as something akin to the psychiatric hospitals used to lock up dissidents in the Soviet Union. In the Mail on Sunday's words, it is 'Blair's Secret Stalker Squad', armed with 'sweeping powers to check more than 10,000 suspects' files', and the ability to 'legally detain people for an indefinite period without trial, criminal charges, or even evidence of a crime having been committed and with very limited rights of appeal'.

For the record: On 29 July 2009, when I rang Robbie Forfar, Lead Nurse on: 020 8721 5268 at the Fixated Threat Assessment Centre (FTAC) and told him that I was Maurice Kirk's McKenzie Friend in court over the years, and that I was concerned about his incriminating Fax to Mr Kirk's GP, Dr Richard Jones, where Forfar stated, "I understand the letter was an account of his grievances against South Wales Police, against whom he has made 121 complaints." - It was evident from our conversation that Robbie Forfar is only interested in investing complainants, as he failed to investigate the endemic corruption in the South Wales Police force, and when I told him that the South Wales Police force had also framed me up twice in ten years for speeding, he put the phone down on me. Therefore, the FTAC are assisting the corruption in the South Wales Police, as they are locking up and drugging men like Maurice Kirk who have been denied justice - having been FRAMED-UP umpteen times by the South Wales Police force, which culminated in Barbara Wilding the head of the force, making a false Sworn Affidavit. Mr Kirk was about to expose this HM conspiratorial corruption in open court shortly, but he has been snatched off the street by the perpetrators to cover-up years of their crimes against Mr Kirk, his family and his businesses: -

Today is Maurice Kirk's 18th day on Hunger Strike in Cardiff Prison, due to the total collapse of the British justice system, which was brought about by a WAR CRIMINAL and his HM Cronies in 'PEACETIME'.

News of The World: "Coffin Clue to Murder"

"There is a Conspiracy to Silence me" – said Arnold Lowe McCardle. Mr McCardle was about to expose the HM Strathclyde Police dealing in drugs, when they used the Mental Health Act to section him and brutally murder him. Mr McCardle did NOT have delusional beliefs, as one of the Police Officers he was exposing, just six weeks after Mr McCardle's murder, was given a six year prison sentence – for drug smuggling: -

<http://sacl.info/> ..... AND ..... <http://www.normanscarth.com/>

the question that now must be asked: Is Maurice Kirk going to meet the same end as Arnold Lowe McCardle, as like Mr McCardle, Mr Kirk was incarcerated by the very same HM Partnership mob that he was about to expose???

As a BIG victim and Caseworker since 1990, I can professionally say that the following is the ONLY 'Domestic Remedy' freely available in the UK to dissidents like Maurice Kirk who was obliged to make 121 legitimate complaints about the Systemically Corrupt HM South Wales Police FORCE: - this is getting more than stupid, it's ridiculous, Maurice like all other citizens has the right to voice his opinion, whether any one likes it or not. I get the impression that the whole system in the UK being under the control of social failures (UNI FORM) and incompetent leadership is slowly sliding in to a dictatorship primarily on the back of the innocent. The whole set up looks like there is a vendetta going on against Maurice. He may be very eccentric and does have his weak spots, but he also has a point.

I think that everyone who knows Maurice personally writes a character witness statement and sends it to the residing judge and to his MP the Rt Hon J. Smith. It is also possible to write letters concerning the plight of Maurice to the local and national news papers in order not only to keep interest open but also to inform the public about the shocking circumstances of his arrest and his treatment. His friends and colleagues will know him better than these psychiatrists. The whole situation has spiralled out of hand and it is extremely dangerous for Maurice, being 64 years old and showing physical scars of SWP's friendly treatment of him to go on a hunger strike. It is cruel and a form of mistreatment to keep a human being in isolation under any pretence and then sanction him in order to shut him up. If he was a dog, the RSPCA would be in arms about his treatment. Shame we don't have an organisation for humans. May be the whole affair is put in to motion in order to cover up some impotence of the SWP, sorry boys, no Viagra for you here.

Great, we are in France but we are trying to raise some interest in his plight here as well. I've checked the European Human Rights Act 2000 and they are grievously wrong treating him like that. According to the Act they have no right to deny him self presentation. You can check out the web site, its European Human Rights Act BBC 2000. I will write to his European presentative and forward a formal complaint. Excuse all my sarcasm, but I get the impression they think he is a Zulu, the way he is treated. I hope Kirstie takes some legal advise about his treatment. As his wife she also has rights.

Hi all

Read for yourself, no comment.

Dear Madam

I note your concerns concerning Mr Kirk.

As this matter is one of operational policing and for the Courts to determine the Police Authority has no statutory power to intervene or involve itself.

I regret, therefore, that we are unable to assist you.

Yours sincerely

Alan Fry OBE

Chief Executive / Prif Weithredwr

Thank you for your recent letter regarding Mr Kirk's present circumstances. Please allow us to take this opportunity to explain the work that we do and our mission.

Amnesty International is a worldwide human rights movement, which is independent of any government, political ideology, economic interest or religion. Our vision is of a world in which every person enjoys all of the human rights enshrined in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and other international human rights standards.

Amnesty International's program of research and action is focused on preventing and ending grave abuses of the rights to physical and mental integrity, freedom of conscience and expression, and freedom from discrimination.

In this context, we focus in particular on:

- campaigning to abolish the death penalty, torture, and other forms of cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment;
- ending extra-judicial executions and "disappearances";
- protecting the human rights of refugees and asylum seekers;

- protecting the human rights of non-combatants in armed conflicts;
- working for fair and prompt trials for all political prisoners;
- seeking the release of all prisoners of conscience.

Whilst we would have every sympathy for his situation, we do not compile any information or take action on the issue you refer to and are therefore unable to be of further assistance on this occasion.

You might want to get in touch with the organisation Liberty: www.liberty-human-rights.org.uk or contact your local Citizens Advice Bureau.

A Captive Population

For those who are captive, whether in an army or police barracks, a prison, a psychiatric institution, a hospital or nursing home, all can be subject to the use of electronic technologies, simply because they are captive 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

The human body and brain are the targets. The human body does not have a faraday cage, nor does the brain have a firewall.

Because the individual is institutionalised they have no choice about what chemicals or nanotechnology particles are put in their food or drink. The minute particles enter the bloodstream and are designed to cross the blood brain barrier. Once in situ they act as precise receivers for the radio frequencies with which the captive can be bombarded day and night.

For those captives deemed “useless eaters” a sudden electronically induced heart attack or aneurism will come as no surprise to family and friends. Their suspicions will not be raised and they will not enquire into the sudden, unexpected death of their relative.

Those captives for whom the experiment will last a bit longer may experience a “sudden onset” or medically unexplained illness. The illness will be appropriate to their age, body type and family and individual medical history. Sudden onset illnesses can be physical or mental, but they do have to have a neurological i.e. electronic base because there will be no pathology. e.g. alzheimers, angina, chronic fatigue syndrome, eating disorders, fibromyalgia, headaches, irritable bowel syndrome, sleep disorders, unexplained pain and nausea and vomiting, or any type of mental health syndrome ranging from stress to depression to schizophrenia. Many types of modern illnesses or syndromes match the categories of mystery illness or sudden onset illness.

Any pre-existing condition or syndrome can be exacerbated. Conditions which debilitate are preferred, like one of those associated with chronic diarrhoea. However, there must also be an element of pain associated with the condition. Pain is a vital element in any program of control to force the individual to focus on the body and away from life, activities and other human beings. The times when they are relieved from it are equally important to make the individual grateful for any tiny reward. The alternating cycle of pain and freedom from it creates an obedience syndrome as it is when the individual is free from pain that they are easily open to the influence of suggestions.

For those captives where a psychiatric diagnosis is required to keep them chemically imprisoned for life and legally under overt police surveillance the process is facilitated by putting them into an institution for a few weeks under any pretext. During that time they will be isolated, at least at night, but preferably for twenty-four hours a day, and subjected to a very well defined and practiced regime of physical chemical and electronic information input.

Where time is of the essence the individual will be rendered unconscious by chemical or electronic means or both and injected in the areas of the body most appropriate to electronic targeting. To enable this it is required that there is physical access to a sleeping body.

The captive can be forced to experience any stage of consciousness at any time of the day or night from wide awake to unconscious. They may be sleep deprived for days or kept awake for days. This process too allows for ease of programming.

Electronic pulses can also create moods. An individual can be made to experience any mood from peaceful happiness to deep anger.

Another suite of programmes and frequencies create cravings and appetites whether for alcohol and nicotine, or any type of mood enhancing drug or food type. The suggestions seem like a subconscious thought and appear to be natural.

All captives should check their bodies externally for injection marks if they have been unconscious at any time. The injected substances to facilitate more accurate reception of radio signals can be injected anywhere in the body, to any depth, to suit the selected programme of electronic harassment.

Common external signs to look for are dry skin, discoloured skin, age marks, dandruff, rashes and blisters. In the mornings, after the individual has been lying in one position for many hours, captives should note deterioration of eyesight, loss of hearing and loss of sense of taste and smell. All these faculties may return to near-normal or normal functioning once the individual moves around and the areas affected are no longer being consistently, directly targeted. However, tinnitus or white noise may be continuously applied all day so that memory is lost and coherent thought rendered impossible.

Targeting areas of the head is used to affect functioning of the brain. Large quantities of the radio frequency receptive substance can be injected into the sinuses, through the back of the nose and through the soft palate of the roof of the mouth. The sinus at the centre of the top of the brain tends to be used more for tracking the individual. The sinus cavities retain the substance efficiently and the proximity of these areas to the central functions of the brain enables very precise and efficient targeting.

Injecting the sinuses in the forehead enables accurate targeting of the forebrain making it very difficult for the individual to concentrate or make decisions.

Injections at either side of the eyes once again lead to disruption of thought processes and in particular short term memory. The left frontal lobe is used more than the right. (You may notice damage to the skin of these areas on the faces of politicians or celebrities).

Injections to the side of the neck, near the vagus nerve are used for knock out effect as are those at the rear of the head under the cerebellum.

At the front of the head injection sites can be used for the more simple physical effects of watering eyes, running nose and sneezing. Coughing and choking require sites in the front of the neck.

Evidently long term damage is caused to the brain and other tissue proportionate to the number of years the targeted individual is subjected to electronic harassment. The very high temperatures that can be induced are particularly painful and damaging. When very low temperatures are induced, blood flow is slowed to a bare minimum resulting in the literal numbing of thought processes and the creation of very painful headaches.

The interiors of the ears are common injection sites so that when they are targeted the individual will hear white noise or ringing in the ears, tinnitus. Concentration or clear thought can be rendered nearly impossible.

Other areas of the body commonly targeted are the heart to slow down or speed up the rate of blood flow, breathing can also be slowed. The bladder is targeted to cause involuntary urination. Sudden diarrhoea can be caused by pulsing the rectum or further up the large bowel.

The use of the electromagnetic spectrum to influence the human body and brain has been steadily developed over the past sixty years. Many detailed histories of human experimentation are available on the internet from countries like America, China, Germany, Japan and Russia, but few projects have been revealed, whether biological, chemical or electronic from Britain or the Commonwealth countries.
